Headline:
Wintry showers Sunday. Milder through the week.

Today:
A cold start with a widespread frost. Bright through the day, but wintry showers, initially toward the coast developing inland through the day, heavy at times with temporary accumulations possible over Peak District and Lincolnshire Wolds. Maximum temperature 7 deg C (45 deg F).

Tonight:
Any remaining wintry showers in east easing, with temperatures falling sharply under clear skies. Turning cloudier from the west later with rain developing, perhaps wintry on northern hills. Minimum temperature -2 deg C (28 deg F).

Monday:
A cloudy morning with outbreaks of rain. Brighter by the afternoon, with sunny spells and scattered showers, but drier later. Milder by day but locally frosty overnight. Maximum temperature 9 deg C (48 deg F).

Outlook for Tuesday to Thursday:
Mainly dry, bright Tuesday after a local overnight frost, scattered showers possible in west. Fine and dry Wednesday and Thursday, with milder temperatures and increasingly localised overnight frosts.
